

Project work supporting material for class 10 English for TS students for Unit 1

You have read about Nick Vujicic, who has accomplished every seemingly impossible thing in life despite having the most difficult form of disability. You have read about Narayana Murthy, who is one of the most remarkable examples to win over the unbeatable difficulties. You may also have heard or read about some remarkable Indian women such as Sudha Murthy, Sudha Chandran, Kiran Bedi and many other women who have crossed all the hurdles to become successful.

Work in pairs and make a list of qualities you like in your partner. Exchange the list with your partner. Assess whether you want to add more words describing your own qualities in it. All qualities are present in all of us, though some are better developed than others. Qualities help us live well and solve problems that we may come across in our lives.

How to do this project?

- Select your pair first
- Discuss the qualities of a person
- Think which qualities suit your friend and why
- List the qualities
- Find the better quality of your friend and illustrate
- Give your work to your pair and take his/her work
- If you want to add more qualities of you, add them.
- Write the qualities you would like to possess
- Finally write your observations and present

Process:

Projects take place in various stages such as:

- Brainstorming on the nature of the project,
- Designing tools for the collection of data,
- Collecting the data,
- Consolidating the data using different formats,
- Analysis and Interpretation of the data,
- Report writing,
- Presentation.

Process of Writing Report for a Project Work:

(According to the hand book)

1. Name of the project:

3. Consolidated data (using various graphic organizers such as table, pie diagrams, bar diagrams, fish bone diagrams etc.)
4. Analysis – interpreting data and capturing the data in descriptive statements, incorporating supportive evidences like photographs and pictures.
5. Findings:
6. Reflections, suggestions on the project:

Unit 1 : Personality Development : Model Project Work and it's Report

- 1. Name of the project: List of qualities you like in your partner
- 2. Tools for data collection: Observation and consulting other friends
- 3. Consolidated data :

Qualities I like in my friend
1. Sincere	2. Honest
3. Understanding	4. Loyal
5. Truthful	6. Trustworthy
7. Intelligent	8. Dependable
9. Open-Minded	10. Thoughtful/kind
11. Wise	12. Considerate
13. Good-Natured	14. Reliable

- 4. Analysis: When I thought of my friend's qualities, I found many. Among them he got a large number of good qualities. But I have listed fourteen of them only the best I thought.
- 5. Findings: He is really awesome. I like him. We are friends together ever since we were joined in primary school. I have observed him all these years closely. Sometimes I felt jealous on him being sincere and honest at anywhere. He is a good friend and reliable. Really he is dependable because he helped many a time in my home work and projects as well but never felt proud and boasted himself.
- 6. Reflections: By observing my friend's qualities and the list he made for me I realised that I have to be changed in some qualities. I have to possess some of my friends. I am not kind to everyone. I think it is the right time to practice kindness to everyone. I think I will acquire or possess the ability to be open minded. I started to be open minded with this project writing about my friend.

Additional information that will help you to understand your friend and his qualities

Who you are as a person? You can change--for better or worse.

If you want to be a better person--or a better spouse, parent, friend, child or employee--it could be a simple matter of adopting the right traits (qualities). Based on numerous discussions and lessons learned from life, here are the top 10 best qualities for any person.

1. Be honest

Honesty is a way of life. It means you don't steal, you don't cheat on your payments/taxes and you are faithful to your parents/teachers/spouse. Here's a quick test to determine your level of honesty: You give a cashier Rs.50 for a book, and a pencil. The total comes to Rs. 25. Instead of giving you Rs. 25 in change, she gives you Rs.75. You get a Rs.50. You notice it immediately. What do you do?

2. Be happy

It's not about money, looks or status. Being genuinely grateful for what you have and looking forward to the dawn of each day can make you feel a kind of happiness that is contagious.

3. Be respectful of others

When you treat others as you would like to be treated, you are showing the ultimate kind of respect.

4. Be easygoing and fun

As the old saying goes, "Live, laugh, love." Slow down from life's frantic pace and have fun--whether it's an unscheduled day playing hooky from your responsibilities or just a few minutes respite from the grind.

5. Be confident

Once you accept there is always someone out there who is better than you, you can realize your own abilities. Be confident in what you can--and cannot--do.

6. Be emotionally open

Be open and honest with those you love. Express your opinions and listen to them without criticizing.

7. Be disciplined

No one is watching over your shoulder when you stop working hard--except you. Self-discipline means you have a finely tuned sense of ethics, of what is right and what is wrong, and you act accordingly. You are strong enough to say no to life's many temptations, from food to drugs etc.

8. Take pride in yourself

While too much pride can be seen as sinful, we all need to feel some pride in who we are, where we live and what we do. That kind of pride helps define who you are in your world.

9. Be compassionate

Being empathic to the needs of others and doing good deeds to ease others' suffering is one of the most basic acts of kindness and goodness we accomplish as human beings.

10. Have a sense of humor

You have to be able to laugh, especially at yourself. There is humor in almost every situation. You just have to find it. And laughing is almost always better than crying.

- Here are some more qualities of a person can be useful for you. Take the help of your dictionary to find out the meanings of these words and discuss with your group mates.

This list may assist you in determining some of your/others personal qualities that you may not have thought of otherwise.
